Grant Purpose	The Primary Phonics program instructs beginning readers in both phonemic awareness and explicit sound-symbol relationships. The program facilitates individualized instruction through flexible, skills-based workbooks and

	storybooks that correspond to students' ability levels. The workbooks provide students the repetition needed for skill mastery. They have many opportunities to become successful readers by receiving the reinforcement that they need. Therefore, each student will gain a sense of
Grant Activities	The students in the kindergarten classroom will be assessed to find their initial reading placement. They will then be divided into differentiated reading levels. The students will begin each skill of the program with a small guided reading group. Once they are confident with the skill they will be able to work at their own independent pace and level within their workbook. The workbooks offer a repetitive format that is easily followed for each phonics skill and pattern. The students will wo
