Fees for Continuing Workforce Education Courses and Other Fee Supported Courses

Fees for the fee supported programs are to be determined by the administrator of the program, based on the expenses incurred by the program, including staff salary, materials consumed, facility usage, equipment, administration, as well as competitive factors. Fees will generally be calculated for a 14 student class load to carry the cost of the program taught by a part time teacher, which as a base, is calculated to be $50 per hour of class. A student would then pay $3.57 per hour, plus registration fee, plus a program lab fee. However, fees differ depending on variations in the anticipated class size, environment of the delivery of instruction, equipment and material requirements, additional staff requirements, specific charges from other agencies, etc.
