Grant Purpose	This school-wide project provides faculty with professional development to create curricula to foster student centered learning such as: accountable talk, research skills, social skills, innovation, and mindfulness activities. This project will provide students with learning experiences that include thinking to recreate, to imagine, to go further, and to stretch their knowledge through classroom discourse and group projects. These activities will develop accountable talk methods reflecting a mul
Grant Activities	The goals and outcomes of this project will be divided into the three stages. During Stage One: Faculty Development and Community Partnership, the central goals will evolve around the school's improvement plan objectives, specifically strengthening higher order thinking skills through academic disciplines to support essential features of evidence based Student Centered Learning. The goals and outcomes associated with Stage Two: Curriculum Writing and Collaboration consists of faculty producing a
