Grant Purpose	This exploration will be memorable to my students because circus captures the interest and curiosity of younger elementary students as well as the more 'mature' fifth graders. Few of my students have the opportunity or the financial ability to attend a circus event. The excitement and interest generated by designing and building the classroom machines will increase my students' interest in science and engineering, which will help them as they progress to middle school. Using a hands-on apprao
Grant Activities	The Marvelous, Miraculous Circus Machine is designed for fifth grade students in Sarasota and Manatee County Schools, and is the embodiment of imaginative problem solving; asking students to cooperate, innovate and succeed in the creation of a whimsical contraption. Curriculum developed for The Marvelous, Miraculous Circus Machine! aligns with the New Florida Standards for Force and Motion as well as the Practice of Science. The Arts Integrated lessons are inspired by the artists Rube Goldberg
Grant Budget Items	All material, tickets, bus transportation, and one substitute teacher will be covered by the grant. There is no cost for the student.
After Grant Plans	Students will continue in the spirit of Rube Goldberg and use his strategies of cause and effect, persistence, and originality in their studies at school and as they graduate and begin to attend middle school. It is hoped that this activity will foster a love for invention, problem solving , and the circus (including the clowns!).
