Grant Purpose	Through the study of stories, young learners understand the power of words to transport and teach, they think creatively and critically on how to best communicate a message, in a way that engages. Students will actively utilize the skills taught in third grade English Language Arts, to critically discuss written work and use what they know to create writing of their own.
Grant Activities	Out of class activities include a visit to a professional theatre, Florida Studio Theatre, where students will experience the entertainment of a classic play, Peter Pan by skilled actors. Following the play, students will reflect on the event and what they enjoyed, how it made them feel, as well as how they characters interacted. Students will investigate character traits, emotions, motivations, as well as actions, they will look at the sequence of events as well as moments of disquiet and conce
Grant Budget Items	The grant funds admission and transportation for two theatre performances outside of school. An in school performance followed by a writer's workshop with professionals from Florida Studio Theatre is also included as well as a culminating Young Playwright's Festival experience.
After Grant Plans	Students will continue to use knowledge and experience gained through the program throughout their academic years as writers.
