Grant Purpose	The project, Mapping the Spoken Word, will engage high school students in the search for how philosophy has guided their learning through concepts associated with: (a) emotion; (b) perception; (c) language; (d) creativity; and (e) social change. Developing a comprehensive and integrated curriculum unit involving the use of the spoken word - language, visual arts, and theater arts to helps students map out knowledge areas illuminating ways of thinking outside of customs and conventions with which
Grant Activities	Students will participate in a variety of 'Spoken Word' activities to help them visualize, perform and apply the meaning of words to communicate their ideas. Students will develop their individual 'voice' through theatrical games designed to help them select the most powerful words to give their presentations shared and personal meaning. Students will be participating in games to elicit imaginative and creative responses to a variety of questions and prompts. In addition to performing, students
Grant Budget Items	Artist-in-residence = $2,800 Student Planning Journals = $880. Sheets for installation projections = $72. Theatrical Props = $1,248.
